Shabbat Update November 5, 2022

Dear BCC Membership,

Tomorrow, we resume Adult Education using the schedule: first Thursday, education; remaining Thursdays, Hebrew. The topic is “the vocabulary of the Jewish people.” These are terms and sayings one hears in Jewish circles. As with any religion or culture, there are many, and—as Judaism is both—we have a lot. All are welcome to attend.

There are no services Friday, but we will have services on Saturday morning (again, the first of the month is somewhat different). Sunday is not only the end of Daylight Savings Time for 2022, but BCT's Book Club. At 10:30 am, Ken will lead a discussion of Georgia Hunter's "We Were The Lucky Ones." Everyone is invited to attend. Georgia Hunter has a website that can help in your preparation, especially if you haven't read or finished the book. Expect to see coffee and bagels.

We also look forward to the rerelease on Saturday, November 12, at 7:00 pm of "Crossing Delancey." Havdalah precedes the showing for those interested. No advance prep is needed for this event. If you have not been to the vestry recently, you will be impressed by our new audio/video system introduced last month. Not only do we have hybrid services at the temple and on Zoom, we now have hybrid services in the sanctuary and in the vestry. Thank you to Brian and Doug for their help.

We have ten for Israel. Please consider joining us. It will be a great trip with a great tour company and terrific people. Visit our website or contact me for more information. And tell your friends.

Hope to see you Saturday and/or Sunday.

Shabbat Shalom,

Hazzan Richard Bessman
