Shabbat Update
June 3, 2023

Dear BCC Members,

Last week, we celebrated Shavuot with cheesecake and Torah study. Major Jewish holidays are on pause, as June 2023 is but a day away. However, we look forward to several happenings at B'er Chayim before summer reaches its full stride.

Much of today's Shabbat Update is repeated in June's bulletin. I wouldn't want anyone to miss out on BCC programming.

Adult Hebrew replaces Adult Education. Students voted to continue their hard work in understanding Biblical Hebrew before summer's break. The class has made great progress, as we are nearly halfway through "The First Hebrew Primer"—no minor feat.

Sunday, June 4 at 10:30 am, BCC's Book Club meets for a discussion of David L. Bernstein's "Woke Antisemitism." Antisemitism has sprouted in unexpected places with concerning virulence, and more knowledge is better than less regarding this millennia-old prejudice.

Michael Manto is set to lead services on Friday night, June 9. Thank you, Michael, for being willing and able. You always get good reviews. At Shabbat's end, "Keeping Up with the Steins," is the top contender for the next selection in BCC's film series. Check your email for an Evite invitation for more information.

Shabbat Shalom,

Rabbi Richard Bessman
